FAQs

What if I don't do every activity and/or read every single day?

You can still get a vinyl sticker each week and turn your calendar in for a book at the end of the month.

How long should I read every day?

Experts recommend 20 minutes of reading a day, to keep your brain sharp and prevent "summer slide." You can set whatever goals work for you and your schedule.

What should I read?

Summer is a great time to read WHAT YOU WANT! Not sure what you like? Explore different authors and genres! Try both fiction and non-fiction. Try an audiobook! Listening to someone read aloud isn't just for kids! Read articles online or in magazines. Don't forget about comics and graphic novels! You can even count reading aloud to a younger sibling.

What if I lose my calendar?

You can pick up another calendar at the library, free of charge, or access it online!
